

WE NOMINATE

Eric Frederick Goldman, a brilliant observer of the passing scene, probably the most articulate of the front-rank American historians and for some 33 months consultant on intellectual affairs to President Lyndon B. Johnson. This month, whether the medium be television, radio or the printed page, the 53-year old Goldman, a Princetonian for over a quarter-century, is in the news and "on the front-burner" as author of the 531-page "The Tragedy of Lyndon Johnson," a thoughtful, highly provocative and at times exasperating book which — in the words of one critic — is, for good or ill, the book "that histories and memoirs of the immediate future will be measured against."

For long years to come, as scholars, scribes and even apologists ponder the shades of 1968, including the chilling tragedy of Robert Kennedy, the panegyrics of Eugene McCarthy, the haunting challenges of George Wallace and the quiet effectiveness of Richard Nixon, they will be wrestling with Goldman's central theme. President Johnson, Goldman writes, "could not command that respect, affection and rapport which alone permit an American president genuinely to lead. In his period of triumph and downswipe, in peace as in war, he stood as the tragic figure of an extraordinarily gifted President who was the wrong man from the wrong place at the wrong time under the wrong circumstances."

It was almost by chance that late in 1963 Goldman, then in his first year as President of the Society of American Historians and the newly named Rollins Professor of American History at Princeton, became The White House "Intellectual in Residence." A telephone call, arranged by one of Goldman's former students and received here 10 days after President Kennedy's assassination, carried Goldman, who had never been associated in any way with government at the federal, state or local level, to Washington and to an assignment in which he was instructed to help sustain "a continuous flow to The White House of specific proposals, general approaches and opinions from a wide range of experts outside the Government."

The fanfare generated by Goldman's appointment as "Idea Custodian for Johnson" and his mission to "insure a wide-open window for ideas" in The White House contrasted starkly some three years later with the tight-lipped announcement of his resignation. Friendly members of the press recalled Goldman's efforts to recognize outstanding secondary school students, his recruitment of "bright college graduates" and his advocacy of a more vigorous battle on behalf of the cities. However, the emphasis in 1966 was on the ill-starred White House Festival of the Arts in 1965 when Goldman found he could not hope to promote real cooperation between President Johnson and segments of the so-called intellectual community.

A native of Washington, D. C., Baltimore-bred and one of the first four Princeton faculty members to receive one of the University's highest honors, a McCosh Faculty Fellowship, Goldman is also the author of two of the major historical works of the past 15 years: "Rendezvous with Destiny" and "The Crucial Decade." He took his advanced degrees at Johns Hopkins without benefit of undergraduate degrees, taught for seven years at Hopkins and came to Princeton in 1912.

For his remarkable understanding of the phenomena which are America; for assembling a memoir-history that years from now will be invaluable in assaying the strengths and weaknesses of the Johnson Administration; for combining good reading with thoroughly satisfying history, he is our nominee as

MEET GORDON MACK
Civil Rights Man. A warm guy with a lot of cool—that's Gordon Mack, new chairman of Princeton's newest citizens' group, the Joint Civil Rights Commission.

"Come and tell us," he begins, with an engaging enthusiasm. "We're aware of the things that bother people in this community, and we'll listen to any of your grievances or concerns."

"We hope to establish a level of trust between the Commission and the people of this town, and more—we hope that's the beginning of a basic trust among people in the whole Princeton community! Let's be more honest with each other in all our dealings!"

Come and Tell Us. Various community groups in Princeton have been invited to make a start on Saturday, March 22. That's the day the ten members of the Commission will sit down and listen to group representatives talk about what the Commission can do in the areas of civil and human rights.

Groups that want to participate are asked to call Max Blumenthal at 929-8400 (daytime) or 921-9418 (evening) before March 8, so that the Commission can draw up schedules and notify various groups where and when to appear on March 22.

Gordon Mack already likes to talk about where the Commission has a dual responsibility: to respond, and to take the initiative.

The police area is the first one that comes to Mr. Mack's mind. And naturally, since he has been involved for about two and one-half years with a "sensitivity program" in the police department of Washington, D.C.

Police in the Middle. "Today's climate is new," he explains. "Police today are caught in the middle—between the government and the people. How do we deal with this?"

"In Washington the exercise is to help police become more sensitive to the broader, more professional role they have to play today. The police sit down with us and 'talk it out' in a safe atmosphere—I say 'safe' because there's no threat that somebody is going to report back to an official. Older police especially can be afraid of this."

A sensitivity program for Borough and Township police is something Mr. Mack hopes the Commission will launch as a benefit to meet on the force and the community. "You know," Mr. Mack likes to amplify a theme—"civil servants often feel that people take them for granted. Well, how can you help them raise their professional competence if they have that feeling? I think our Commission could be a great help here."

Call in a Pro. Professional consultants? "Sure, if they're needed. Volunteer governments can be paid outside help now and then, to help them with problems."

How about the Commission's own paid helper? "We want a person who can listen sympathetically and not turn people off, a person who can record accurately what somebody is saying and report it accurately to the Commission. We don't know yet whether our paid helper should be full time—let's wait and see on that one."

The Commission has a lot of what Mr. Mack likes to call

"nuts and bolts" work to do, right now at the beginning.

Where will the Commission office be, for example, and what hours will it be open? How should the Commission organize its ten members as the group can respond to community needs? The Commission wants to be available to individuals, not just to groups.

"Another thing—we want to get rolling quick, but do we put out brush fires, or work for long term results?"

The ten Commissioners, from many different streets in Borough and Township, are eyeing each other and getting acquainted. They are also doing some work, reading what Mr. Mack calls "our Bible"—the manual of New Jersey laws on basic civil rights—and also studying other state laws.

Under the new name is the state's Division of Civil Rights plans to seek out discrimination, rather than wait for it to knock on the door, and the Princeton Commission will inevitably be part of this new policy.

Mr. Mack's fellow Township members are Lawrence Housen, Robert King, Stanley C. Smyser and Mr. Blumenthal. Borough members are Redmond H. Morrow, Mrs. Roman Smoluchowski, Alfred O. Campbell, Martin F. Lombard Jr. and Mrs. T. Morgan Harris.

Working for the Y. Gordon Mack is a New York commuter whose title is Executive for Recruiting and Training for the National YMCA. He and his wife Kay and their four children—two through nine—have been living in Princeton for four years. Mr. Mack has been with the Y for almost 13 years.

"I never planned to recruit anybody for the 'Y', but I did it without knowing it," and Mr. Mack gives a big shrug and a laugh.

"I loved my job at the 'Y'—this was in Chicago and I spent a lot of time on it and my wife and kids were kind of involved, too." Mr. Mack gives a theme again—"because what can you do that is great, and that you love, that you DON'T have to put a lot of time in? So the guys saw all this and decided they wanted to work for the 'Y' too."

"No problem finding young people to work for the 'Y'—he continues, "the problem is finding the right people, and getting our share of the top kids."

Mr. Mack was one of the top kids himself. He received his B.A. from Southern University in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. He looks like a football player and was. He has an M.A. from New York University.

On the Job. In his job, Mr. Mack travels the region, working with professional YMCA staff people, teaching them how to interview students, outlining for them the trends in today's employment markets, planning with "Y" executives their manpower needs for the future.

"You see, our organization prides itself in relating to people. This means we have to Continued On Next Page

INTO THE DOGHOUSE
Daytime restraint planned.
Turning night into day, Township Committee reversed itself Monday night and introduced an ordinance requiring dog restraint from 7 in the morning to 7 at night—9 at night in the summertime.

The new ordinance will be up for public hearing on Monday, March 3, at 8 p.m. in Community Park School, but plenty of people held a dress rehearsal after the ordinance was introduced Monday night.

The original dog proposal, discussed informally at a public meeting last month, would have restrained dogs overnight, allowing them to run after school had started in the morning.

Committeemen said they switched from night to day because they didn't think nighttime restraint solved the problems of dogs harassing school children or chasing bikes and cars.

Also, speakers at last month's meeting had said they wanted dogs free to roam at night as watchdogs.

Penalty. Fees and penalties are unchanged from the January proposal. If a dog is picked up, he will be taken to a kennel on Route One. The owner must pay a $15 redemption fee, plus the kennel's boarding charges.

Under the new ordinance, bitches in heat can remain in the Township, but must be confined indoors. If they become a public nuisance anyway, a public nuisance anyway.

IN MEMORY OF MARTIN LUTHER KING: This sculpture, by David Savage of Princeton, will be placed on the triangle of land in front of the First Baptist Church, honoring the life and memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. It is welded stainless steel, "brushed" with soft irregular strokes that catch the light.

They must be removed to a kennel. The ordinance extending the Herrottown Road sewer was passed.

Edwin C. Hutter, Van Dyke Road, protesting the 7 1/2 hours said, "This means children can't romp with a dog after school, or walk him on weekends."

Mayor John D. Wallace invited Mr. Hutter to draw up a proposed schedule of hours and submit it to the Committee before the March 3 public hearing.

Mayor Wallace also emphasized that dogs would be picked up whether they were Township dogs or not. "If they come from the Borough or from Kingston, it doesn't matter—we'll pick them up if they're in violation of our ordinance."

To a protest that it's cruel to keep a dog indoors all day, and that anyway, the Township is an open, rural community, Committeeman Thomas Hartmann replied, "The Township isn't all that rural; New Jersey is changing, and the density of population is a prime consideration. I built an enclosure for my dog because I think I owe it to my neighbors not to let my dog become a nuisance. But I'm open to some adjustment of hours."

Danger Spots. Police listed the Township's five most accident-prone streets: Route 266, north; Route 266, south; Mercer Road; the Valley-North Harrison intersection and Alexander Street.

Observing the relatively low position of Valley-North Harrison, Mayor Wallace said grimly, "Everyone is forced to go so slowly in that lousy traffic pattern that the Shopping Center has dropped as an accident spot."

Snow Ordinance? Engineer Frank Quinby requested a "snow emergency" ordinance which would ban cars from streets so snow-plows could plow a wider swath.

The school board's sidewalk request was read. Mayor Wallace asked Engineer Quinby to verify the board's estimate that sidewalks are cheaper than school buses.

Mylar, Inc., owner of the store in the Shopping Center, is now in bankruptcy proceedings and the Township doubts it will ever receive $1,200.50 in 1967 business personal property taxes.

Sewer assessments for extensions along Mercer Road and State Road were approved.

Smaller lot sizes? Hans K. Sander, Planning Board chairman, points out that in a quarter-acre zone, a developer constructed homes in the $30,000 range, just as though he had been operating on two acre lots.

"Social diversity," the report says, "will have to be maintained through the institution of more direct policies" than permitting private developers to build "lower cost housing."

Half the Township is undeveloped, whereas the Borough is almost fully developed. The Planning Board regards as its "obligations" to the Township Community, the following:

1. Building a road network to ease central business congestion.
2. Keeping low-density lots to complement higher-density homes and apartments in the Borough.

3. Setting aside land for the expansion of public and institutional facilities.

4. Preserving "open space." Touching surrounding communities, the Planning Board report says these communities are better than the Township for "higher density residential developments" because they have more land at lower costs than the Township. Also, neither Borough nor Township has enough expansion space, parking room or accessibility from regional highways to provide the shopping services that outlying areas—Trenton and Brunswick—can provide.

And surrounding communities have cheaper land than Princeton for industrial development.

means to the Township Zoning Ordinance will proceed briskly, perhaps to be finished by the summer doldrums. It's quicker to amend an ordinance, he observes, than to rewrite it all at once.

After all the amendments are in, the ordinance will be turned over to a professional to re-write. The new zoning ordinance is expected in the fall, Mr. Sander said.

Mr. Sander and board members emphasized the importance of constantly revising the Master Plan, preferably every year.

"It's better to revise constantly than to wait eight or ten years," he commented. He cited the Road Master Plan of 1967, revised last year, and due for public hearing next month in its 1970 revision.

MAN RUNS AMOK

Summers Fire Store Window, For a brief time Friday morning, a small stretch of Prospect Avenue at Nassau Street looked as if the aftermath of an riot. In five stores, porcelains of plate glass windows had been shattered.

The path of broken glass was the result of a rampage by Leon Williams, 30, of 139 Club Street, Trenton. The huge, former employee of retail clubs on Prospect Avenue was finally subdued around 7:30 Thursday evening by Phil Patterson, P.D. Anthony Hanfane and Sgt. Robert Anderson.

Sgt. Anderson received a broken nose in helping to restrain Williams, whom police described as six feet, seven and "200 pounds plus." Police said he had been drinking.

In his wake, Williams left $1,683.62 worth of shattered plate glass. The victims and the cost of replacing their windows were: Landau's, 114 Nassau, $100; Woolworth's, 116 Nassau, $147; The Game Room, 124 Nassau, $327.72; Safa Paint Store, 126 Nassau, $135.99; and Nassau Hobby Shop, 132 Nassau, $150.

Williams was charged with assault and battery and malicious damage. He was found guilty on all counts Monday in Borough Court. However, he said, "but before we pay Judge Theodore T. Of criminal arrests, Williams was taken to Mercer County Jail on Tuesday by Borough Police.

"Our investigation revealed," reported Lt. Michael Car down, "that he had been in morning, a small stretch of Prospect Avenue at Nassau Street looked as if the aftermath of an riot. Township Situation. The pending and possible new survey is the reason the Borough is reluctant to join the Township in a neighborhood analysis for low cost public housing. That analysis itself may have gone out the window. Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini told Township Committee Monday night.

Newly streamlined Federal regulations have eliminated the detailed sociological study, Mr. Nini reported; however, Federal Housing and Urban Development officials do require considerable planning programming budgeting information and a lot of neighborhood analysis surveying might come under that category, he suggested.

Township officials conferring with Federal officials about low cost public housing were told that seven requirements in

Besides planning and programming, these include updating building codes, housing needs and relocation plans and the involvement of citizens.

BUILDER IN CONTEMPT

According to Court, Timothy Sheehan was found in contempt of court Friday by Judge Frank Kingfield of Superior Court, Appellate Division, for construction work that has been done at Nassau and Markham Road where Mr. Sheehan hopes to build an office building.

Mr. Sheehan began excavating for his building even though the Borough had cancelled his building permit, along with everybody else's, when the new zoning ordinance was passed November 18. He was the only builder to go ahead anyway.

In December, the Borough got a restraining order from the court, charging that Mr. Sheehan's excavations were undercutting adjoining properties.

He was required to construct two retaining walls to protect the properties but he constructed four.

On Friday, the court decided that Mr. Sheehan had to be allowed to go ahead and construct the first-floor slab of his building because otherwise the retaining walls wouldn't be able to withstand the pressure of backfill.

Mr. Sheehan's sentence is expected some time this week, according to Gordon Griffin, Borough attorney. The judge gave no indication of penalty.

Late in April, through the Sheehan case, the court test of the Borough's revocation of building permits is scheduled to come before Judge Kingfield.

OFFICE ENTERED

Money. Check stolen. Borough police report the Child Guidance Center, of Mercer County, 253 Nassau Street, was entered last week by a thief who forced open the front door. Twenty-five dollars in cash and coins was taken from a cash box and $2 from a desk drawer. Also taken was a check made out for $120. Patrolman Timothy Huizing investigated.

Twelve Tires Stolen. Township police report the theft of 12 new tires valued at $300 from a building of the Princeton Car Wash nearing completion on Alexander Street. The theft of the tires — some still encased in their wrappings — was reported on Monday.

Early last week, a $180 chain saw was stolen from outside the rear door of the home of Morris Solorovsky, 23 Heather Lane.

TWO CARS WRECKED

Driver, Passenger Hurt. A 1969 and a 1968 sedan were adjudged by Township police to be total losses, following their collision Sunday morning at 1:40 a.m. at the intersection of Washington Road and Faculty Drive.

One driver, Thomas M. Jones, 24, of 438 Princeton Road, Plainsboro, and his passenger, Thomas Aust 19, 28 Clearview Avenue, were taken to Princeton Hospital for treatment of assorted cuts and bruises.

I went through and there was a collision." A witness in another car told Ptl. Funk that the Burdink car had not stopped for the flashing light at the foot of Faculty.

Nine feet of split rail fence owned by the University and a traffic light were damaged in the collision.

In the Borough, Alice M. Furth, 37, 55 Locust Lane, was treated at Princeton Hospital for a whiplash injury and released after her car was struck from behind late Saturday morning on Nassau Street near Moore.

Ticketed for careless driving by Ptl. Robert Mucciarelli was Mary K. Elz, 68, of Trenton. She told him she was going slowly when the car in front of her suddenly stopped, causing her to skid into it.

Mrs. Elz was also treated at the hospital for a mild whiplash and confusion of the lip. She was released.

SIX ARE FINED

In Traffic Court. Six Princeton area residents were fined Monday night in traffic court by Borough Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr.

Judson M. Carter Jr., 30, 151 John Street, had his license revoked for 15 days and was fined $20 for careless driving. Princeton University student Malcolm S. Douglas, 21, 1942 Hall, was fined $30 for tampering with a motor vehicle. He pleaded guilty to trying to remove a red light flasher from a police patrol car earlier this month while it was parked in a Prospect Avenue driveway.

Four were fined $15 each: Richard A. Davis, 17, 27 Vandeventer Avenue, failure to stop for a policeman's signal; Lynda P. Dornier, 21, of Titusville, speeding; Dennis P. King, 17, 90 Battle Road, unregistered vehicle; and Edward N. Samuelson, 22, Sterling Road, passing at an intersection.

water at the Inn, were each fined $20 and $10 court costs for fighting. The two had signed counter complaints against each other, following an altercation between them January 21 at the Inn. Both pleaded not guilty.

Charges against three men for fighting in front of the Grato Restaurant were dismissed. Each was fined $10 court costs, but all three fines were paid by John A. Caruso, 41, of Trenton, a bartender at the restaurant and one of the complainants. The other two were Henry L. Montgomery, 29, 131 John Street, and Robert
W. Watt, 60, 384 Snowden Lane.
The three had signed counter complaints.

Tony W. Brown, 18, whose address was listed as 181 Goldenspool Street, was held for action by a Grand Jury, after his public defender waived
a preliminary hearing.
Brown has been charged with possession of stolen property. Police said they found possession of an umbrella that allegedly is one of the items stolen January 30 in a $1,477 theft at Lutmann's La-gasse, 132 Nassau Street.

MORE ON 1-95

Words that is, if words were naphth, the state could pave the disputed stretch of Interstate Route 95, running through Mercer, Somerset and Middlesex counties, with the verbiage already on record for and against the current alignment.

The latest discourse comes from Mercer County Assemblyman William E. Schluter, who has written in State Transportation Commissioner David J.
Goldberg stating that this section is "an hinder a viable transportation route." Mr. Sch-luter based his contention on two recent developments which he said "have changed the entire transportation concept of Interstate 95 through New Jersey."

Mr. Schluter feels that the shift of the northern terminus of 1-95 in Middlesex County to the east, where it will connect with the New Jersey Turnpike and the plans for the new Burlington-Bristol bridge, will result in increased use of the turnpike rather than the proposed "long, meandering alternate (432) route through rural and suburban areas."

He suggests, instead, that the state discard its plans to build the 34 miles of 1-95, and use the more than $111 million allocated for this for "other urgent transportation needs," such as the completion and expansion of the Central New Jersey expressway system. The 1-95 designation could be applied to this lower part of the turnpike as it had to the northern part,
Mr. Schluter adds.

The original plan for 1-95,
Mr. Schluter contends, was to run a western route up toward Morristown, which would have served a definite purpose, but when the alignment was changed to connect with the turnpike near Metuchen, 1-95 became merely a duplication of a major north-south route.

In reply to Mr. Schluter's assertions, Mr. Goldberg said that designing a 1-95 route would "eliminate a critical transportation artery, essential to the proper development of Mercer and Somerset counties; would jeopardize the receipt of more than $50 million in federal funds, and would result in an inadequate transportation network for Central Jersey."

Mr. Goldberg denied the roads would be a duplication and commented that the loss of federal funds for 1-95 would lead to overcrowding on the turnpike, where federal funds are not available.

Commenting that he understood the dislike registered by individuals personally affected by the alignment, Mr. Goldberg pointed out that if superhighways are never built because they affect individual property owners, then needed transportation improvements probably would never be made anywhere in the state. He added that the area to be served by 1-95 is expected to grow 250% in population in the next 30 years.

The battle against 1-95 continues on another front, with Hopewell Township appealing the alignment of the route in the federal courts, after being turned down at the state level.

Latest Cosmetic Find!

With a substance new to cosmetics, named Genava, aging skin can start looking younger and younger — not older and older.

After a two-week trial on a selected group of women, a noted physician, specializing in dermatology, reports on the ingredients in Genava:

"Disappearance of small wrinkles was accomplished in a two-week period; even the very deepest wrinkles showed very great improvement."

This physician also comments, "the small superficial wrinkles responded dramatically." And he adds that the skin was "more translucent and smoother in appearance."

These results are nothing short of amazing. And it took a new cosmetic compound to do it.

Genava was designed to be used daily under make-up or overnight. It is absorbed instantly by the skin. Recommended by leading dermatologist and drug stores.

WHAT THEY WORE
In Early Princeton. Dresses, beautifully preserved, from the late 18th century through 1913, are being displayed on mannequins by the Historical Society of Princeton at the Society's "Bainbridge House."

The mannequins have been dressed and posed in the environment of their time, with appropriate paintings, tea sets, documents and other accessories.

One figure is a lady about to board the Delaware and Raritan Canal boat for the trip to New York—quite an adventurous undertaking for the time. Another lady's dress, for Annis Stockton's reception for George Washington, and another—perhaps a great-granddaughter—is dressed in the fashion of Woodrow Wilson's time.

Dresses from the 18th-century can be displayed on the mannequin of a modern child. Nineteenth-century dresses must have special forms to accommodate small waists and shoulders.

Mrs. Edwin R. Metcalf, Mrs. Charles T. Covenhoven Jr., Mrs. L. B. Webster and the Hopewell Museum have contributed the dresses.

Mrs. William Field, chairman of the exhibit committee, has worked with Mrs. Robert Grieff, Mrs. Felton Gibbons, Russell Gray and Wheaton Lane.

BURGULARIES ARE DOWN
Larcenies, too, in Township. A year and report from the Township Chief James B. Campbell Jr. reveals that the number of burglaries in 1967 were 49—seven less than the year before, and that larcenies were down as well, 127 from 1966.

There were 56 adult males arrested and 12 women; for juveniles, the figures are 96 males and 37 female for a total of 204 arrests. In 1963, police recovered 20 stolen cars (8 less than in 1967), clucked 1,893 vacant homes (80 less), investigated 311 accidents (56 less), but handled 71 fires—19 more than a year ago.

Lest anyone think the Township policeman's lot has become easier, they investigated 2,403 miscellaneous complaints in 1968 as compared to 1,850 in '67 and 1,580 in '66. They also gave other police departments a hand, making 16 criminal arrests for other departments—up 6 over a year ago—and assisting in 181 investigations of other departments, 35 more than the previous year. Ambulance assists were up 12 to 48 in 1968.

Township police issued 700 tickets during the past year, 484 for parking and 216 for moving violations. In death by auto, there was a sharp increase. In 1968 there were five, compared to 2 in '68 and 1 in '67. The fatal accidents occurred on Mercer Road, Route 206 north, Bruere's Hill, the Kingston Bridge and on Faculty Road at the Penn Central Railroad crossing.

ABOUT THE HIGH SCHOOL
Come and Talk It Over, Princeton High School will be

LADIES OF LONG AGO: What is Princeton like in 1697? These visitors to the Historical Society of Princeton have stepped into Bainbridge House to see for themselves. The young lady with a big hat on her blond curls (second from right) is bound for New York on the Delaware and Raritan canal boat. The lady in mid-Victorian attire (left) is only a generation or so earlier than the wasp-waisted miss at the left. The mannequins will be on view daily, 10-3; Wednesdays, 10-4:30; Saturdays, 10-noon and Sundays, 2-4. Special groups may call for appointment.

The chief item on the agenda when the school board meets next Tuesday at 8 in Community Park School.

What kind of principal the new principal should be, what about the old school building, what can be done to modernize not only more space but more peace and quiet as well, what can be done about the climate of the school and should girls be allowed to wear slacks?

All these will come under the purview of board and members of the audience, some of whom have already written letters on the subject. (See "Mailbox," page 11.)

PERMIT REVOKED

For Land Fill, Can a 15-story apartment building be built on land that may not even be there?

The state's Division of Water Policy and Supply has revoked the April 15, 1968 permit allowing Harold G. Houghton to dump fill into the land on Lower Alexander Street between canal and Stony Brook where Mr. Houghton wants to build a 15-story apartment building.

The state has ordered Mr. Houghton to remove all fill and restore water channels and flood plain by April 10 of this year. The state disapproved the depth of the compensating excavations that had to be made, and objected to modifying the extent of the fill area.

Attorney Gordon Griffin, informing Township Committee of the state's decision on Monday night, commented that the moot Township's appeal of that decision is now, of course, moot.

Mr. Houghton's Park Lane Equities, Inc. is still on the agenda of this Thursday night's zoning board meeting, an appearance continued from the January meeting. Mr. Houghton needs several variances in order to construct the 15-story building.

BLAIR TO SPEAK

Patrolman's Work Praised.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I wish to express my sincere praise for the superlative conduct, courtesy and thoroughness that was shown by Officer Mario Musso, of Township police, to all parties in a traffic accident in which I was involved.

He was extremely helpful, diligent and resourceful. Officer Musso is a credit to the police and to Princeton, not only as an officer, but as a gentleman.

Improvements Needed at PHS.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the text of a letter I have written to Dr. Philip McTherahan, Superintendent of Princeton Regional Schools:

I have read in the local papers that you are inviting comment on the needs and condition of Princeton High School, in preparation for this month's Board of Education meeting. As a citizen of Princeton, an alumnus of Princeton High School, and as an officer of the High School Alumni Association, I offer the following comments for your consideration.

Five years ago, when I was a senior at P.H.S., the physical condition of the high school was exemplary. Custodians did an outstanding job of keeping the school clean, even during the school day.

This fall and winter I have spent many hours at the high school, and to say that conditions have changed is a great understatement. Numerous people about town have told me that the grounds and building of the high school are such

I READ YOU . . . Photographs of people who use the Princeton Public Library are on display now in the library's entrance area. The informal show was taken by students in Sam Tamashiro's photography workshop, and this one is the work of Richard Williams. The card catalogue so absorbed this young lady that she forgot to give her name.

a mess because the students no longer have any respect for school, the kids are "wild" and "irresponsible."

I disagree. People follow examples, they are more likely to make a mess of a dirty place than of a clean one. In this case, if the school authorities do so little to keep the school clean, the students merely follow the example. Students arriving at the school in the morning find dirty floors, broken glass in exterior and interior doors, and broken, defaced wooden panels (auditorium lobby). The interior doors near the boys' gym have broken glass panels which constitute a serious menace to the students' safety. The exterior doors, also near the boys' gym, have broken panes of glass which have been boarded over.

Physical Education teachers report to me that they have resorted to cleaning their areas themselves each morning, in order to provide a safe area in which to teach their students. To ask a student to run, tumble, and jump on a dirty, dusty floor is to invite injury, and yet the teachers have to clean it themselves because the custodians are not around to clean it.

Even the night crew does not do a good or consistent job of cleaning the gyms. The locker areas and toilet facilities are truly a mess, and dirty more every day. Again, physical education teachers have had to clean these areas themselves to maintain some degree of sanitation.

The high school authorities tell me that requests have been made to the Board office, requests that would correct these unfavorable conditions. These requests have been made some time ago, and yet I see no improvement.

The teachers I have talked to tell me they are very discouraged about the whole situation. Like myself, they do not blame the students for the school's poor condition. Rather, a great deal of the blame is laid at the feet of the Board's administrators. It is no wonder the little red schoolhouse on Stockton street is called "Cripple Creek." It is no wonder, also, that Board meetings will be held from now on at Community Park School—would be ashamed to invite the public into Princeton High School.

Our Priorities Are Inhumane.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Many years ago conditions of poverty in this country were documented and publicized. Now we are again reminded that malnutrition and related diseases continue to exist in many areas of America.

It is outrageous that we have done so little in all this time.

We have, however, gone to the moon.
We continue to conduct research in biological and chemical warfare. It is proposed that we escalate the arms race with the A.B.M. system. We are spending millions, soon to be billions, on the supersonic transport (SST).

If you feel, as we do, that this nation's priorities are inhumane, please write or wire Senator George McGovern, Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs, Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510, and our Senators (Case and Williams) in support of full funding for the necessary field trips and urge that Congress expedite relief for the victims of America's callous indifference to Americans.

Thank you for your attention.

LENTEN EVENTS BEGIN

at Princeton Community.

The Pastors' Association and the Christian Unity Committee are co-sponsoring a series of Lenten programs that begin this Thursday with an interdenominational service at 12:10 p.m. in First Presbyterian Church.

The three weekly events planned for the Lenten season are: holy communion on Tuesdays at noon in Trinity Episcopal Church, a musical service on Wednesdays at a series of Princeton churches, and a worship at mid-day on Thursdays at First Presbyterian Church.

The experimental liturgy of the Episcopal Church will be used during the Tuesday communion services at Trinity, conducted by Trinity Parish clergy. Laymen and clergy from other congregations will assist. The sponsors invite all Christians to participate to whatever degree they may wish. A light lunch will be served from 12:30 to 1 p.m. Child care is provided.

Emphasis will be on congregational singing at the Wednesday evening services. The music will come from a variety of Christian traditions ranging from an old-fashioned hymn sung to a modern song mass. The services are set for 8 p.m. First Baptist Church will host the opening service;

the series will continue in Princeton Methodist, Calvary Baptist, St. Paul's Roman Catholic and a Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church. In the Thursday worship in First Presbyterian Church, is scheduled for 12:10 to 12:30, and will include hymns, prayer, Scripture reading, and a brief meditation by a Princeton pastor. Child care is provided; luncheon is served from 12:30 to 1 for $1.

INNOVATIONS PLANNED
By Lutheran Church, The Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, Princeton Junction, during this week a new type of midweek Lenten service.

The Ash Wednesday worship was held at 8 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bruchini, 1 Colonial Avenue, and consisted of a dialogue sermon between the pastor, John C. Pfisterer, and the congregation. The text was taken from John 1:5-9, and the purpose of the service was to proclaim the Gospel in its contemporary setting, the pastor said.

The series continues on March 2, when a 7 p.m. service will be held, with the church youth assisting. There will be congregational singing, accompanied by guitar and banjo.

On March 18, a modern drama will be performed. It includes a dialogue exchange between the players and the congregation.

The Holy Thursday service will be a celebration of holy communion with church members gathered around a table to receive the Holy Supper in a setting similar to the first communion. Messiah Lutheran, Mrs. Don aid Magill, All Saints' Chapel; hold by Prince of Peace Lutheran Church in the Main Prince Hawk School on Clarks-ville Road. Worship begins at 10 a.m.; Sunday school is at 11.

Clergy from a number of the Lutheran Brethren churches took part in the service.

The Rev. Mr. Soma has left for Clearbrook, Minn., where he will assume the pastorate of the Lutheran Brethren Church.

Participants in service included the Rev. T. B. Tegen, who will be the interim pastor of the Bunker Hill Church, and the Rev. Dr. H. H. of the Norwegian department of the Norwegian Evangelical Lutheran Free Church.

In the early summer, the Rev. Stanley Bugb will become pastor. He is currently minister of the Lutheran Free Church, East Hartford, Conn. Following Sunday's service, the Rev. and Mrs. Soma were honored at a reception by the Faith and Fellowship Society, of which Mr. Soma has served as president.

CHURCH VOTES SUPPORT

Of Vietnam CO's. The congregation of Princeton Unitarian Church adopted a unanimous vote on Sunday a statement in support of its youth who are, or become, conscientious objectors to the draft.

"At any time that one of our young men is applying for status as a conscientious objector," the Rev. Robert L. Cope said on Monday, "we just want the draft board to know that the congregation stands behind him. He has counselled at least five young men who have taken this position, he added.

The statement was adopted at congregational meetings at 9 and 11 a.m. by 107 voting members.

In full, the statement reads: "The Board of Trustees of the Unitarian Church of Princeton directed the preparation of a statement for presentation to the Selective Service Local Boards which would provide background on the subject of the Unitarian Universalists as Conscientious Objectors.

"The motivation for this statement is our belief that the changed guidelines established by the courts and recent Selective Service directives will make the process of determining which applicants qualify for Conscientious Objector status even more difficult now than in the past. We believe that every group in any way concerned should do all that it can to help the Local Board members in their effort to justly administer the Selective Service Law.

"1. The members of the Unitarian Church of Princeton, recognizing universal responsibility for the support of our nation, and teaching their children that duties to society are a matter of religious concern, do at the same time recognize the religious, ethical and moral conflict on the conscientious objector.

"2. In our schools of religious education, we help our children develop a code of ethics by which they live. We teach our children to think for themselves. Our religion is a continual searching for truth rather than a complete and permanent doctrine. We teach our children to examine the values we live by. Inevitably this leads to a certain diversity of thinking, a diversity that we cherish as essential to the vitality of the Unitarian Universalist religion.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH CHOIR will lead the singing at the first of the evening Lenten services sponsored by the Princeton Christian Unity Committee and the Pastors' Association. The 8 p.m. service next Wednesday, February 26, will be conducted by the host pastor, the Rev. Edward Smith. Choir members include (1st row, from left) Beate Christian, music director; Floyd Phor and Emma McQuinn; (2nd row) Lula Venable, Raponda Swila and Rosa Simpson; (3rd row) Hedy Dean, Ernestine Brown and Mary Sullivan; (top row) Harvey Wilson, Addie Martin, Mary Anderson and Harker Saiton.

Concert At Mt. Pisgah

The Men of Zion Singers, from Bordentown, will be heard at 3:30 this Sunday in Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church. The program is sponsored by the Trustees-Aid Board. Mrs. Edna Holland is president. The Rev. Marion F. Stokes Sr. is minister.

"We encourage our children to adopt those values that we hold most high, the respect for the dignity of every human being and the universal brotherhood of man.

"We teach our children to be responsible adults, for we hold that each individual is accountable for his own acts and must act upon the dictates of his conscience.

"3. Many of our young people see their responsibility to the cause of maintaining justice and preserving peace best fulfilled in serving in the armed forces and in helping to maintain the military strength of our nation. We respect and support them.

"It is equally natural that some of our young men regard war, killing and military duty as a violation of their deep religious commitment to the dignity of every human being and the universal brotherhood of man. They conclude that they cannot bear arms against their fellow men. We respect and support them.

"4. We do therefore ask that in judging the qualifications of a youth for this Church for classification as Conscientious Objector, consideration be given to the fact that the position of conscientious objector is completely consistent with the values of the Unitarian Universalist Church and is for him a direct and necessary consequence of his Unitarian Universalist religious training."

VON ALMEIN TO LECTURE

On Liturgical Renewal, Dr. Jean-Jacques von Allmen, dean of the theology faculty at the University of Neuchâtel, Switzerland, will give two open lectures on Monday at Princeton Theological Seminary. The lectures, part of a course on comparative liturgies conducted by the Rev. Jack M. Maxwell, will be held at 10:40 and 11:40 a.m. in Room 3, Stuart Hall.

Dr. von Allmen has been closely associated with faith and order concerns throughout his career. He is a member of the Committee of Theological Education, Fund (World Council of Churches), the contact commission between the Reformed and Roman Catholic Churches in Switzerland, and was a vice chairman at the fourth General Assembly of the World Council of Churches in Uppsala last summer.

An ordained pastor in the Reformed Church in Switzerland, he has been since 1968 Professor Ordinarius for Pastoral Theology, Ecclesiology and Ecumenics at Neuchâtel. He became dean of the Faculty of Theology in 1961.

A STEAL!
Wonderfully versatile Western Borough townhouse could house one of two families in equal comfort. Built in 1928, it probably couldn't be reproduced today at any price. If occupied as one house, it would include: random oak-floored entrance hall, baronial living and dining rooms, library with fireplace and doors to screened porch, study, breakfast room, kitchen and powder room on the first floor. Upstairs, a two room and bath master suite, large guest room and bath plus 5 other bedrooms and 2 more baths. Servants' quarters. Basement playroom with fireplace. Huge attic, 2 car garage. Presently arranged as two entirely private dwellings, but easily reconverted. On a beautifully planed acre. Really unique and quite a buy in the Princeton real estate market.

News Of The THEATRES

KNOW "THE SCARECROW"
 Few Do. "The Scarecrow," first produced at the old Garrick Theatre in New York back in 1911, is rarely given today. But McCarter has decided to open the old trunk and see what's inside. "The Scarecrow" — it's a melodrama — will bow in this Friday at 8:30 as the next offering in McCarter's 1968-69 repertory series.

The play was written by Percy Mackaye, who based his drama on Hawthorne's story "Feathertop"; however, Mackaye explained in his preface that while Hawthorne's scarecrow is ridiculous, his is pitiful and "the emblem of human haleness."

"The Scarecrow" takes place in 17th century Massachusetts. There is a blacksmith's shop and a female blacksmith (Sally Walker) whose helper (Richard Mathews) bears a strong resemblance to the devil.

The mischievous pair bring an ordinary scarecrow to life and christen him "Lord Ravensbane, Marquis of Oxford, Baron of Sittenberg, Elector of Worms and Count of Cordova." (Donegan Smith is the actor under all the titles.)

All this complicates life in the Massachusetts village and gives the McCarter special-effects staff something to do; the scarecrow is brought to life right there on stage, and

"THE SCARECROW": It may look like a scarecrow, but it's really Donegan Smith, of McCarter's repertory company. Kathryn Walker is his companion. Both will be in "The Scarecrow," a rarely-performed American melodrama which will enter McCarter's repertory this Friday.

the young girl is transformed into a blacksmith and there's a magic mirror . . .

TIMID?

Don't Ser "Futz!" When a theatre says that a forthcoming attraction is "not for every taste," it unquestionably expects a run on the box office.

"Futz!" due at McCarter on Monday, March 10 at 8:30 has been honored by the theatre with that "not for every taste" label. McCarter then says it's not for the timid. S.R.O., anyone?

The controversial off-Broadway play by Rochelle Owens, "scandalized and delighted" New York reviewers. A TV critic observed that "Futz!" makes the lunatic asylum in "Narrow/Side" look like the Harvard Business School. The play, of course is about a guy who loves a pig, and we don't mean pork chops. Tickets on sale now at the box office.

"A GREAT MOVIE . . ."

"Les Carabiniers." Renata Adler of the New York Times called "Les Carabiniers" a "great movie, in a poetic and understated way" and gave it a place on her 1968 ten-best list.

Jean-Luc Godard made the film in 1963. It's an anti-war allegory about two men and two women, and will be shown Monday at 8 as the next in McCarter Theatre's International Film Series.

ANOTHER GREAT MOVIE

"African Queen." Humphrey Bogart won the only Academy Award of his career for his portrayal of the steamboat cap tain in John Huston's 1955 film, "African Queen." Katharine Hepburn played the English spinster, remember?

McCarter Theatre will show "The African Queen" next Wednesday, February 20, at 8 p.m., and tickets may be purchased now at the box office, or at the door the night of the showing.

WHO SINGS BLUES?

Steppenwolf? John Kay, lead singer for Steppenwolf, says "young urban whites" have inherited the Negro blues tradition because many black singers today "can't or won't sing blues any more."

John Kay sings, plays guitar, composes and serves as focus for the five-man hard-rock group that will come to Dillon Gymnasium on Saturday, March 8 at 8 p.m.

CHILDREN'S THEATRE SET
By Pennington Players.
The Lion, The Witch and The Wardrobe, a dramatization of C. S. Lewis by Don Quinn, will be presented this year by the Pennington Players, Inc., in the group's tenth year of presenting children's theatre for schools, hospitals and other organizations.

Directed by Jack M. Rees and Sandra M. Jefferson, both past presidents of the Players, the play is adapted from Lewis' "Chronicles of Narnia," the story of four English children who make their way into a strange world of eternal winter ruled over by a white witch.

The 24 character cast, which also includes two curiously un-cast dragons, is headed by Rosemary Arcieri, a former president of the Players, as the White Witch. The children in the play will be Sally Anderson and Nanette Rees, alternating as Susan, James Arcieri as Peter, Keith Keefe as Edmund and Kim Fischer as Lucy.

Other members of the cast are Sheridan Madole, the professor; Robert Deverall, Mr. Tumnus; Bryant Goldman and Kevin Rees, dwarfs; Mary Ann Salvatore, Mrs. Beaver; Larry Cohen, Pevensie Uff; Mr. Rees, Father Christmas; and Walter Tiemken, as Aslan. Lynn Delgado, Robin Goldman, Jeanne Madole, Robin Madole and Lisa Emmerich will portray forest animals, while Jean Delgado, Mary Lou Deverall, Amy Robillard, Ann Vandanneman and Debbie Tiemken will be statues.

The three sets for the production will be designed by Mrs. Charles Delgado, while Mrs. Thomas Deverall and

AT HOME DECOR, an incredible variety of curtains and, high on the wall, small tufted rugs to delight a child: a blue-eyed lion, a frog with a red bow tie, a rocking horse, all about 2x3 in size. The selection includes a jumping blue hound, a red-and-blue drum, an owl, a dancing turtle, a bear — most of them cut in the shape of the figure, as the frog above.

IT'S NEW To Us

HAPPY SHOPPING
At Happy House. Someone once said she didn't know where she'd rather be turned loose with $100 bill—Happy House or a hardware store—for the zillions of things that make keeping house amusing. Happy House has about everything you'd need from Praise Allah steak seasoning to liquid candles. Located in Princeton Shopping Center, the shop is a great browsing place. If you're in need of a gift for a friend, you'll probably end up adding a little gift for yourself.

For members of the pewter cult, Happy House carries reproductions of Sturbridge, Williamsburg and Newport pewter, as well as polish to keep it shiny. We noticed Steiff porcelains in various sizes, cream-and-sugars, some attractively simple trays and wooden-handled coffee pots. And a 10" pewter vase, that cries for cornflowers and daisies.

You can make your own candlelight very simply. Happy House supplies bottles of "Liquid Candi" in various colors and wicks. Choose from your glass containers at home—a brandy snifter, a wine glass, a low bowl. Pour the liquid over the wick, and when you light it, you'll be delighted with the reflected shimmering pool of light. Scented, too. (About $1.)

We noticed habachi pots for buffet or patio—the pint-size that is so handy. In black wrought iron with a sliding door for draft ($3.50) or in earthenware-red, aqua or blue—with two carrying rings at the side ($3.95). You'll also see such a variety of fondue sets that it will be hard to choose.

Over on the wall near the candles is a revolving "spice wheel," such a convenient space saver and ready reference. The center is wood, and eight jars fan out like spokes of a wheel. Unscrew the jar you need from the pointed cap. Happy House also has the standard wall cabinet for spices.

And speaking of candles, have you seen the beeswax candles? Peer down the top and you are looking into a honeycomb. They come in muted colors, sizes 4", 9" and 12" (.80c/pr to $1.20/pr.)

Happy House shows many of its candle styles with floral wreaths at the base. Some carry the time-honored scents of bayberry, pine, lemon. Interestingly enough, you can buy candles there that are 28" long ($3/pr.) and others tiny enough for a birthday cupcake. And of course, decorative, fragrant sandalwood candles, fat as a fence post.

Wandering around, you'll see small ceramic pitchers that brighten up the invalid's tray (about $1), and amusing trays to brighten up the invalid (him- or her) self. Some are eight-sided, others petal-edged, some plastic, some tile, some leak. A tray is no longer a board with handles. It's a conversation piece.

We were stopped short by the "Travel Bar," the boaters, "campers," tourists' delight. It looks like a piece of lightweight luggage, about the size of a vanity box. Inside are four cups, various openers, fingers and spoons—all in the deep lid. The bottles get strapped into the other half. The gray case has the leather look and aluminum trim. And there's a lock, for your security feeling. ($13.95)

Among the glassware, we saw the handsome Pilgrim glass in many colorful objects for a sunny window. Among the kitchen things, a fabulous, thick-bladed meat knife 22" long of stainless steel—designed for the professional chef but available to us all. Among the cheese and chip'n dip trays—well, you'll enjoy browsing yourself!

natural history films with sound tracks in five languages, as they are now being distributed through the National Film Board of Canada.

PLAYHOUSE, and PRINCE
Romeo and Juliet (now playing), Italian director Franco Zeffirelli has given us an exciting interpretation of the old classic. The film swirls with color, movement and excitement with the animal spirits and harshness of youth. Here are no languishing, sighing lovers.

Olivia Hussey, said to have been only 15 when she played the role, is the youngest actress ever to have undertaken the part of Juliet professionally. Leonard Whiting is said to have been only 17 when the film was made. Zeffirelli has been able to draw from these youngsters performances with a touching childlike quality, yet with an intensity and sexuality that makes plausible the tragic turn of events.

He has taken many liberties with Shakespeare in an effort to stress its relevance to contemporary problems. The scene is mid 15th century Italy, rather than 16th century Elizabethan England, emphasizing the film in capitalizing on the richness of Italian Renaissance costumes, interiors and architecture.

John McEnery's flashing performance as Mercutio sometimes steals the show. Michele York as Tybalt and Milo O'Shea as Friar Laurence are excellent. In all, it's a version of "Romeo and Juliet" with which young people can identify.

GUIDES
Bruno Seta, Mrs. Campbell (now playing) is a witty and to the point comedy with Gena Lollobrigida in her best role in ten years.

It is a super sophisticated story about an Italian girl who some new metal benches and vanity chairs, as airy looking as you can imagine. Some have a haked on finish of antiqued gold, or antiqued green, others are resplendently polished brass or chrome.

It's New To Us

The designs are Italian Renaissance influenced—a grace full Florentine bench about 3 1/2 ft. long with knobbed corners in colorful velvet, or a scroll sided velvet, or a scroll sided short bench, also softly cushioned. Both very luxurious looking, with a light quality that adds spaciousness to a room.

The line, by Koch, also includes wrought iron vanity stools with circular cushions in colorful velvet, curdury or synthetic leathers (about $35), and attractive vanity tables.

Home Decor has a whole wall full of decorative shelving, much of it in scrolled wrought iron or brass. Some shelving is combined with a mirror, others include a bar for guest towels. All have the same decorative, airy look.

Near to the shelving you'll find the useful clothes rods, four and five pronged for hanging.

At 15 was involved with three fellows in the Air Force during World War II. Now 29 years later, they and their wives return to the same town for a reunion with members of their squadron and in the child they supposedly fathered, not knowing Lollobrigida was involved with all three men.

Shelly Winters and Phil Silvers are outstanding as one of the married couples, but they are surpassed by Telly Savalas and Lee Grant as the pair from New Jersey. Miss Grant is given some of the best lines in the film. There's also Peter Lawford, Janet Margolin and Marlon Mason, all good in their roles.

Are You Zodiac-minded?
Astrology seems to be an up beat thing these days. In keeping with the current fascination with Sagittarius the Archer, Taurus the Bull and so on, are the white sweater kits at The Knitting Shop on Tulane Street which feature your zodiac symbol in red for any color.

And at Happy House in the Princeton Shopping Center are zodiac canvases, thick 10 inches by Bluegate, with the astrology symbols carved all around. ($5)

ing towels or robes. Made of brass, one is topped with an acorn, another with a dolphin. A third type, made of white fender that attaches to the wall.

Also for the bathroom—or bedside are three shelve, round tables of glass, bound a d. supported by chrome finished metal. And the variety of clothes hampers runs from tall, thin hampers covered with quilted prints for the children's bath, to sophisticated black or tiger skin covered hampers for you. A chest like hamper on short maple legs has an Early American print on the front and wicker on the sides.

You'll go a little wild when you see the shower curtains, solids or prints, whichever you like. Some are made of sheer synthetics, others of cotton or taffeta, or vinyl even turkish towel.

Window curtains at Home Decor are so plentifully displayed and in such variety that you had better have a notion of which room you're buying for before you go in or you'll buy for the whole house. Especially useful are the small sample curtains made up in pleated lengths—so helpful in gauging how the design will look when it is hung.

There are unlined nubby weaves, lined cottons and chintzes. In the rear are some exquisitely embroidered white sheers, full length. The linen prints are particularly attractive.

Among the half curtains with valances are the ever-loved gingham and dainty sprig muslins as well as some enchanting sheers dotted with daisies—so cool and airy to the eye.

Many of the curtains are the no ironing type, such as the dacron and cotton sets in white, fringed in color. And you'll find a happy selection of bedspreads that can go straight from the dryer to the linen closet.

Home Decor has a whole section of lamp shades, a large selection of table linens, some extremely interesting roller shades of patterned cotton striped woven through matchstick rods; and about every size cushion in the world, ranging from a backrest for your bed and U-shaped neck pillows that preserve your posture to quilted ottomans about the size of a dinner plate.

MUSIC In Princeton

SUBSTANCE LACKING
In Handel's Maske, Handel operas are seldom if ever presented to the concert going public these days, but within the last three years, two operas by the noted Baroque composer have been performed in Princeton. On Monday it was "Amadigi" that received its Princeton revival (if not premiere).

The opera was prepared for concert performance by J.
Merrill Knapp, professor of music at Princeton and a Handel scholar of considerable renown. The Princeton Chamber Orchestra with soloists, Helen Hoskewright, soprano, as Ori-ana; Janice Harsanyi, soprano, as Melissa; Jennifer Barton, mezzo soprano, as Dardano;
and John Ferrante, countertenor, as Amadigi were conducted by Dr. Knapp in Mc-Cartier Theatre.

It is not difficult to see why these operatic works have failed to survive the passage of time. Though some occasional arias with passages of considerable beauty occur, the general format of these stylized operas is a series of recitatives followed by arias, little or no action, supported by a plot that is as far-fetched as it is absurd.

The role of the orchestra is nothing more than a sonic backdrop to the singers with perhaps an occasional interlude that reminds one vaguely of the Pastoral Symphony from "Messiah" or some of the quieter movements from the "Water Music" Suite. Most of the time the instrumental part of the music merely appear to be filling out the prescribed blueprint of Baroque harmonic practices. In that respect, opera in Handel's time had not gone too far beyond the innovations of the early 17th century, while Gluck's contributions were yet to come—Monteverdi except ed, of course.

So for the most part, this reviewer found the music dull and unimpressive. The singing by our four soloists was better than adequate, though one wished for more body to Mr.
Ferrante's counter tenor than one received.

As for the female members of the quartet of soloists, Miss Hoskewright presented a warm, full tone. Mrs. Harsanyi had the most beautiful music to sing, but her singing did not seem to be as strong as the reviewer has heard her in past performances. At times her tone appeared a bit thin, not at all like the rich, vibrant sounds one has come to expect from Mrs. Harsanyi's artistry.
Miss Barton didn't have too much to sing. Her voice was pleasant, but the ungrateful music neither added nor detracted from her abilities.

The orchestra seemed to be going through the motions of doing a job adequately, if not with genuine enthusiasm.
There were occasional lapses in attack and intonation, but the music simply possessed so little substance that it is hard to see any instrumental member of such an ensemble getting excited over it.

Perhaps, one will receive some letters about this. But does one have to be a scholar of this genre to appreciate it on its own terms? This writer thinks not.

fine indication of their hustle throughout the afternoon.

Jon Taylor got the first and Steve Gill the second. Taylor also assisting on Gill's goal. Princeton left the ice after 20 minutes on the long end of a 3-1 score, just as it had earlier in the week in a game it eventually lost to Brown, 7 to 4.

The difference was in ability on Princeton's part to stay with the Blue throughout the game, never allowing the Elis to fire rebounds repeatedly at Tilghman as Brown had. The victors' margin moved another notch higher at 6:31 of the second period, Pete Stuckey ending the day's scoring on a close shot which saw assists go to Captain Jerry Kearney and sophomore Jack McNab.

The Tigers, who were scheduled to meet Harvard here Wednesday, play a return game with Penn next Wednesday on the Quakers' ice. The season, which has seen them lose 13 of their first 19 games, will end at Cornell a week from Saturday.

PHIS LOOKS BAD
In Losing to Steiner. "Terrible! The worst we've looked all season. We just didn't have it, everyone looked flat."

Aside from the first five minutes when PHIS was in the game and the score was 6-6, there could be no disagreement with the assessment by PHIS coach Larry Ivan of his team's performance Monday against Steiner. They did look bad—although in defense of the Little Tigers, it seemed as if there was a lid on the PHIS basket, as shot after shot ringed the hoop and bounced out.

But in every other phase—passing, ball handling, rebounding, PHIS played poorly. The visiting Spartans weren't settling the world on fire with their brand of play either, but they did outlight the home team under the boards. Most of their points were tap-ins or layups, as Steiner easily won what was supposed to be a lossup, 61-35.

The shouts of "Take your time, take your time" and "Come on, defense!" which Ivan repeatedly implied his team to obey set the pace of the game. It was slow—and it didn't work.

PHIS shot so seldom in the first half that when it did, more often than not the shots were wild—almost as if the player had forgotten how. Two and one-half minutes passed before PHIS, in control of the ball all that time, took its first shot. By half-time, the Blue and White had 13 points to Steiner's 31.

No Little Tiger reached double figures. Jeff Haring came closest with 9 of these coming in the final period. Billy Brooks, still hampered by an ankle injury and far below his best playing form, had 6 points, as did Bob Kennedy. All of Kennedy's came in the first half, Stein ett's Al Hutelings led all scorers with 18.

For Jim Wilno's Spartans, it was their ninth victory in 19 games. For PHIS it was defeat No. 18 against one win. That basketball dynasty that Ivan sought to establish somehow seemed very far away.

DOWN THE STRETCH

Final Three for PHIS. Ahead for the Princeton High School basketball team lies — as certain as anything can be in the uncertain world of sports — another defeat at the hands of powerful Cathedral.

After that, PHIS will close out its long and losing season against two of the weakest teams it will have faced all season: St. Anthony's (5-10) and Hopewell Valley (6-12).

Coach Larry Ivan's Little Tigers will entertain Cathedral here Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. The contest with St. Anthony's will be played next Friday and the finale on March 3.

On the theory that you remember the last few games the longest, Ivan is hopeful that his team can pick up those last two victories to provide next year's squad with a winning base. With this season perforce written off, Ivan is pinning a great deal on a comeback next year on the junior varsity squad which is presently 13-3.

Rather than send up the top performers on the jayvee squad such as its high scoring junior, 6-5 Paul Riddell, Ivan has kept the team intact to give it as much experience as possible playing together. And to give it something else — pride which ranks high in Ivan's list of necessary attributes of a winner.

Bridgewater Wins. In probably its most balanced attack of the season — scoring by quarters was 15-15-14-15 — Princeton came tantalizingly close Friday to defeating visiting Bridgewater-Hariton. The Golden Falcons won, however, 63-59.

As late as two minutes to go, PHIS had clawed its way back to within three. Then misfortune struck. Billy Brooks came down hard on his ankle and lay on the floor for a few seconds.

with no one on the court not making his prostate form. Iun rushed out, thinking Brooks may have broken his ankle but later examination revealed there was no fracture.

But denied Brooks' shooting (17 points), Princeton's chances of overtaking Bridgewater went down the drain. The game marked the best offensive performance of Johnny Madden, who was high for PHS with 21 points. Leighton Newlan and Bob Kennedy added 7 and 8 more.

HUN TOPS MOORESTOWN

Rat Is Tied for Lead. Suddenly it was Hun School runways in the Penn-Jersey League has become a deadbeat.

Hun was upset last week, 54-57, by Germantown Friends on the victors' home court and, as a result, both schools have lost once in league action. Actually, Germantown (11-1) is ahead by a half game, having played one more than Hun, which has a 16-1 league mark following its easy victory here Friday afternoon over Moorestown Friends. The final in that one was 87-49.

Hun has five more league games left — two with punchless George School, it will be at home for a Saturday afternoon contest with Friends Central at 2:30, and then entertain Bryn Athyn Tuesday at 3:30. It was scheduled to oppose Pennington this Wednesday at 4 at Pennington.

Hun had no real challenge in its meeting with Friends Central, as the visitors were hampered by the loss of two starters. As early as 4:30 remaining in the second quarter, Hun coach Dave Leele replaced his entire starting five, his team safely ahead, 36-10. Hun led after the first eight minutes of play, 25 to 4-4.

At the first half it was 41-14. Nat Williams had 12 of his 14 points in the first half and 10 of his 12 rebounds. Herm Szeke and Don Silverton also finished with 14 in tie Williams for scoring honors. The other starters, Mike Maguire and Mike Rossi, had 10 and 9.

Senior Bob Johnson sparkled in his reserve capacity, tossing in 18 points in about eight minutes, most of them shots under the boards. Reserve Steve Brooks added eight more. Maguire led the team in steals with 6, while Bill Crawford, another reserve who saw more action than usual, led in points with 5.

SZEKER PUMPS: Herm Szeke lets fly with jump shot in second period of game Friday with Moorestown Friends. (It was good.) Walling underneath for rebound that overcame the Nat Williams, 42, Szeke had 14 in 87-49 Hun win. (Staff Photo)

For the Quakers it was their seventh league setback against four wins.

Peer First Quarter, Hun was never able to recover from a cold shooting, disastrous first period against Germantown, in which the home team opened with a 24-8 lead. To its credit, the Red and Black almost came back, getting as close as 54-53 with one minute to go.

Leele admitted the poor start hurt but he commented, "We just didn't play that well. They (Germantown) were up; they really wanted the game." Williams, 18 points, Szeke (16) and Silverton (15) combined for all but eight of Hun's points.

Part of Hun's problem was the extra small gym of the visitors. It was so small that Hun's fast break attack was largely nullified by the match box dimensions.

In addition, a balcony encircles the floor from which spectators could lean over near the baskets. This seemed to bother Hun particularly in its foul shooting as it converted only seven attempts. Hun outscored Germantown from the floor, 26-23.

Calvin Johnson played a fine game against the visitor's 6-7 center, scoring 23 points, while Tom Spain canned eight field goals and a foul shot for 17 points, his personal high for the season. Page had 14.

DISTRICTS NEXT
For PHS Wrestlers. Princeton High School wrestling coach Tom Murray will enter a full team in the district matches which will be held Friday and Saturday at Hurdston Central High School. Survivors will advance to the regional matches the following Saturday at Ewing.
The Little Tigers' final dual meet of the season scheduled for last Tuesday was postponed. South Brunswick, the host team, had no school that day because of the snowstorm.
No matter what the outcome of the South Brunswick meet of the district matches, this has been the school's brightest year in the sport. Murray's squad is currently 9-4, having put together a streak of eight straight in this fourth year of competition on a varsity level at PHS.

Only Three Depart. Only three members of the team are seniors: Hank Wilkinson, Bobby Moore and Nick Arcaro — so the prospects of continuing success are bright. The three who will depart in June have, however, been outstanding performers.
Wilkinson, the team captain, has been a member of the varsity ever since his freshman year. He is without question the most accomplished wrestler to represent PHS. "A boy like Hank doesn't come along very often," said Murray.

One step behind is Arcaro, who is winding up his third year as a varsity performer. Unlike Hank, who had prior experience in the sport, Arcaro's main attribute as a sophomore was his strength and eagerness to learn. In the intervening year, he has added skill to his strength to become one of the top mat men in Mercer County. Aggressive on the mat, Nick is a "pinner" and exciting to watch.

Tall and wiry for the 136-pound division he competes in, Moore has been a consistent winner for Murray for the past two years.

Stroger is the Middle. What has Murray excited about next year is the prospect of being more balanced in team strength. The Achilles' Heel this year was the middle weights, especially 136, 141 and 148 pounds.

But with the return of Greg McClain, John Cushman and Leon Costa plus the advent of some promising juvies or newcomers such as Laurie Bloom and Bailis Astaire, Murray is confident the middle can be shored up.

Football player Lawrence Parker may be the new heavy weight next year. The current heavy, Loujohn Rossi, a good one, would move down to 173 pounds; Chris Mislow would drop to 168 and Maury Penbody would remain at 157. That is solid ability at the top.

Aside from the gap left by Wilkinson the lower weights will be stronger than ever. Back are Mark Evans, 98 pounds; Dave MacDonald, 103; Tommy Evans, 115; and Bobby Arcaro, 123. Everything hangs on Mark staying at 98 pounds. "If I can get him to wrestle at 98 again, we're set," said Murray. This would be Mark's fourth year as a 98-pounder.

PDS TO PLAY PAIR
Against Lawrenceville. A pair of home and away contests with Lawrenceville will occupy the Princeton Day School hockey team in the coming week, with the first meeting set for 3:30 Friday on the PDS rink. The rematch recently agreed upon, will take place next Wednesday afternoon at Lawrenceville.

Also added to the schedule was a game against the Benc on Hill Hockey Club from northern New Jersey set for Wednesday, Feb. 18. Not including this contest, the Panthers have raised their season's mark to 5-1, by virtue of another 2-0 shutout against Cranford Friday. PDS had beaten the losers in its first game this season by the same score.

The Blue and White skaters

again dominated the play in this one, but it took them until the middle of the third period to put the puck by the Cranford goalie. Rob O'Conner picked up a loose puck in the corner of Cranford's zone and skated toward the cage, when no defenseman picked him up he got off a clean shot, which bounced in off the goalie's pads.

Jim Rodgers gave the winners a second goal when he skated the length of the ice and fired the disk past the Cranford goalie from 25 feet out with one second remaining. Tom O'Conner had only 12 saves to make for the winners, while PDS got off 35 shots on goal.

Cut yourself a piece of apple pie!

Nobody gives you your income. You earn it! Naturally, you can't keep all of it, but you should at least take the first juicy slice of your money-pie for yourself.

Before you spend a single penny, put aside your share. But put it where it will work for you . . . in a Princeton Bank Savings Account.

Then watch your income grow! Earned interest turns your dollars into substantial sums, if you continue the habit of saving on a regular basis.

The sooner you start, the faster your money-pie will get bigger and juicier. Bon Appetit!

SKATERS AT MONTECLAIR
Finals Next Friday. The Princeton High School hockey team will travel to Montclair Tuesday evening for a makeup game that was rained out January 30. After that, the only game remaining for the Little Tigers will be their final match next Friday with Princeton Day School.
 "It's too bad we're running out of games," remarked Princeton coach John Post, "because we are starting to form up now. It shows. There have been periods in our last games in which we could have stayed on the ice with anybody."
 Unfortunately for the Blue and White, it has had a penchant for falling apart in one of the three periods, which accounts for its lackluster record this year. Next year's should be a little shinier, though, as reports he has a lot of underclassmen coming up whom he describes as "real hustlers."

AWARD BANQUET SET
For YMCA Baseball Players. The 19th annual baseball award banquet for the YMCA league will be held Monday at 6:15 p.m. at the YMCA, to include a talk on baseball by commissioner Jake McCandless and World Series movies from 1953.
 Awards will be presented to each member of the Midwest World Series Champions, the Nassau Old Tigers, coached by Ray Richards, and the National League pennant winners, the Princeton Motor Lodge Pirates, under manager Ed Edendick.
 Boys and fathers who have not received invitations should contact the YMCA office by 5 p.m. Friday to receive one.

GIRLS WIN FINAL MEET
Top Ridgewood in Swimming. The Princeton YMCA girls Flying Fish team won its final dual meet of the season Saturday when it defeated Ridgewood.
 First place winners for the Flying Fish were Deirdre O'Hara, Doree Honeman and Cathy Kroeschell, backstroke; Al Carol McGrath, Robin Barry, Maira Dorgan, backstroke; Margaret Jilison and Margaret Martin, breaststroke; Cathy Karins and Margo Constable and Kris Reeve, freestyle; Carrie Bolster and Margaret Jilison, individual medley.
 Gertrude Bunting captured the junior division diving pass.
 Moira Dorton, Margaret Jilison, Kris Reeve and Cathy

Krauss won the 11-12 medley relay.
 Three Flying Fish swimmers won individual medals at an AAU meet held Saturday at the Newark Boys Club.
 Chuck Hector won the gold medal in the boys' 11:32 100 yard breaststroke, and Kris Reeve won the 50 yard breaststroke for girls 10 and under. Andy Bolster placed third in the 100 yard breast.
 A relay team comprised of Moira Dorton, Margaret Martin, Martha Lashley and Carrie Bolster finished second in the 13 1/4 mile medley.

BANQUET PLANNED
For N. J. Lacrosse Club. There will be a lacrosse banquet Friday evening at 7 at the Nassau Inn for members of the New Jersey Lacrosse Club.
 The banquet is not limited to club members, however. Prospective members and others interested in the sport are invited to attend to hear the guest speaker, Ferris Thompson, Princeton University lacrosse coach.
 Tickets are available at the door. Further information is available from Hawley Waterman, coach of the N. J. Lacrosse Club. He can be reached at the Hun School, 921-7600.

FIRST VICTORY SOUGHT
By PIIS Alumni Squad. The Princeton High School alumni basketball team, with three new additions to the squad that lost a close contest to the high school faculty several weeks ago, will search for its first win Thursday at 8:30 p.m. against the Theological Seminary, at the seminary gymnasium.
 Admission to the contest is free.
 Alumni coach Bob Smyth is expected to unveil three stars in "Marvulous" Marv Trotman, Ray Tamami and Tommie Smith, to supplement regulars Tony Boccanfuso, George Tucker, Buddy Britton, Kerry Kink, Rich Vols, Fitz James and Bryce Chase. Archie Freeman and Willie Hill are also expected to see action.
 Heading the seminary's team, coached by Bob Murphy, is Bob Timberlake, an all-American quarterback at Michigan. Other members include Floyd Brady, Tom Taggart, Paul Stavros, Boh Gustafson, Dennis Farmer, Bill Owens, Keith Drake and Gaden Yoder.

DOG SHOW PLANNED
By Princeton Training Club. The Princeton Dog Training Club will hold its 12th annual

How to stop paying 10¢ an 15¢ tolls when you call people living in other towns.

Here's a way to eliminate 10¢ and 15¢ toll charges on calls to New Jersey telephone numbers. It's a new service called Selective Calling, and it's available right now.*
 Here's how it works for individual-line residence customers. You select the 10- or 15-cent New Jersey exchange areas served by New Jersey Bell that you call or would like to call frequently. You pay an additional small fixed monthly charge for each exchange selected. Then you can make as many calls as you wish to those exchanges at no extra cost.

 The monthly rate for the first exchange you select ranges from $1.25 to $2.50. Additional exchange costs only $2.50 to $1.50.
 Wouldn't you like to talk long and often to friends or family living in these 10- or 15-cent exchange areas? And talk happily without toll charges? If so, Selective Calling makes it very easy and economical to do just that.

A similar Selective Calling plan is available at different rates to customers with business phones.
 For more information, please call your Telephone Business Office.
SELECTIVE CALLING: another new service from New Jersey Bell that can save you money.
 *Selective Calling is available in most areas of New Jersey.

THE WAY TO LIFT THINGS - WITHOUT STRAINING

When a professional weight-lifter raises a heavy weight with apparent ease, it isn't just a display of muscle — it's the technique which counts. Lifting things correctly isn't a secret, but millions of painful accidents occur every year in industry and home because people don't have the knack. The result is strains and injuries, millions of them. The doctor of chiropractic, a specialist in the structure and function of the body, is eminently fitted to advise on lifting, or to treat the effects of incorrect lifting.

Most people bend at the waist with back horizontal, or lower, with arms outstretched attempting to lift like a derrick. The weight to be lifted is thus situated from the center of gravity of the body. Sprained back muscles, pulled ligaments and sacrospinous strains often result.

The lifting secret is to use the large, heavy muscles of the buttocks, thighs and legs. These are strongly attached to the skeleton. The lifter should get close to the object, with feet on each side of the load, bend the knees and squat down in front of it, with back held in a vertical position. Now there is excellent leverage of legs, spinal column, and shoulders. With arms at full vertical length, back upright and relaxed, one may rise easily to an erect position. Correction of back injuries has been a specialty of the chiropractic profession for many years.
